

Welcome to the UC Field Center!

Who We Are

The University of Cincinnati Field Center fosters individual and community-partnered impactful environmental research and education.

Established in 2008, our 17.6 acres of land is home to innovative research in biology, environmental science, anthropology, history, psychology, and more.

What We Do

We believe in education beyond the classroom. We practice an interdisciplinary approach to education across multiple disciplines, including the arts, sciences, and humanities.

Whether you are a weekend hiker, researcher, student, or teacher, we are excited to share this special place with you!
